Essay Details

This essay is a space for us to know and understand you better as a person.

Take us through your life's journey as you have experienced it until now and how you envision it for your future. Use this space to share your personal story, defining moment(s), challenges, accomplishments, and key learnings.

I wonder what's going on in your mind as you read through my application. I've lived every day of my life from the age of 10 wondering what people around me think, why they do what they do and what drives them to say the things they do. Influenced by my mother and later by one of my older brother's friends, who always seemed to have answers to my many questions, I began to read at a young age, as much as I could get my hands on. I developed an interest in history, the evolution of mankind as a unified culture and society. I also enjoyed classical literature, the vast range of it opened my eyes to eras of humans, living and negotiating their existence in slow changing societies and political scenarios. I am fascinated, needless to say, by the subject of psychology and psychoanalysis. Everything I read made me wonder and my imagination always ran wild. I think I continue to wonder. I was raised in a typical middle-class home, my family emphasized education above all. My brother and I were taught to focus, to take initiatives, to stand up for our beliefs, and be honest. As much as I enjoyed to be in peace and read, I loved to be outside. I enjoyed being engaged physically and spiritually. I was introduced to football by my brother and as a child, I spent many hours practising to be able to play with my brother's friends. This trained me to perform well for my school's football team and I went on to be selected to play at the national level. It is a source of great pride for me. Another piece that makes me who I am is Bharatanatyam. This not only instilled in me a great sense of discipline but helped me be in touch with my body and spirit. I found myself a sense of calm every time I danced. The older I grow, the more self-aware I become, the more I read, I find the less and less I seem to know about myself and the world around me. I am keen to learn, for only when I become the master of myself, will I be able to make sense of the world around me. This is why I am keen on applying to Ashoka. I believe this university will offer me a space to engage academically, continue to pursue my interests and hobbies and help me discover myself and my potential.
