Online Creative Writing Workshop

June 8 – June 11, 2020

Conducted by: Apoorva Saini, Sidharth Singh, Souradeep Roy, Uday Kanungo

CWC invites applications for its Summer School on Creative Writing. This 4-day workshop will be conducted online and will focus on writing short stories, and is open to aspiring writers with a Bachelors/Masters degree in any discipline. The workshop will aim towards revising creative material as well imparting some pivotal formal components of short story writing to the participants. The selected candidates will work closely with CWC tutors on their stories through several online sessions, writing prompts, and other interactive activities. Special emphasis will be given to peer-reviewed critiquing sessions with the aim of fine-tuning stories and exposing the creative output to an audience. An indicative list of the different aspects of creative writing that this Summer School aims to address includes:

Exclusive One-on-one Sessions with the Instructors

Peer-Review sessions with instructors as well as participants

Discussions and Activities on the crucial aspects of short-story writing
